Test criteria for your Bitwarden free enterprise trial

Adopting password management is a game changer – it establishes a critical digital security foundation across every single individual within your organization.

If you've signed on for a Bitwarden Password Manager free enterprise trial, you'll be able to access what this leading, open source, end-to-end encrypted password management solution can do. The following testing criteria is designed to help you make the most out of your trial.

Ensure end users are focused on the right things

A trial goes by quickly, so it's important to test features that impact end users the most.

| Try it out | Why it matters | Resources |
|---------------------------------------|--|--|
| Generate a strong and unique password | Strong and unique passwords are essential to end user security and Bitwarden makes it easy to do so, right within your vault. Tip: Bitwarden can also generate usernames for added privacy and security. | Learn how to generate passwords |
| Save a password (and more) | Bitwarden stores more than usernames and passwords. Log into your vault and practice saving your first item – it's quick, easy, and much more secure. | Learn how to save |
| Set up 2FA | Is there such a thing as too much security? Nope! Set up 2FA for your Bitwarden account. It adds another layer of security and there are many 2FA options from which to choose – pick one that best suits you. | 2FA to protect your account |
| Set up the browser extension | Organize and edit logins, save passwords, and sign into websites – you'll experience first hand how seamlessly Bitwarden integrates with your favorite browser (Bitwarden supports most of them!) | Experience Bitwarden in your browser |
| Autofill is auto-amazing | A favorite feature among users, autofill logs you into a website in one click (or try hot keys! Ctrl/CMD +Shift +L) In addition to usernames and passwords, it also fills out other secure items such as credit cards, identities, and more. | Set up autofill |
| Share a login credential | If your team is still using sticky notes or spreadsheets, give them a better way to store and share login credentials with individual colleagues or entire teams. | Learn how to share |

|--|--|---|
| Share a login credential externally | With the Bitwarden Send feature, share login credentials or secure notes to anyone outside of your organization, even someone who doesn't use Bitwarden. Every send is encrypted, ephemeral, and private – you remain in complete control of your data. | Try Bitwarden Send |
| Import items into your vault | Make the smart move (from another password manager) and bring your items into Bitwarden – the entire process is smooth and easy. You'll be glad you did it! | Make the move |

Admins and owners need to get deeper

Not only will this cohort explore enterprise capabilities, they'll be responsible for educating and inspiring everyone else to get on board with Bitwarden.
